

Dear Sir or Madam,
I am a satellite radio subscriber. I also listen to local radio stations. The satellite radio gives me an incredible range of listening choices that I find very worth the monthly subscription fee. The sound quality is fantastic. It has come to my attention that the National Association of Broadcasters is trying to get the FCC to prohibit satellite radio broadcasting instant traffic and weather. This is WRONG! The FCC should allow satellite radio to broadcast local news. Our Constitution protects free speech. If I want to listen to satellite radio the NAB shouldn't govern it's availability and content!

Sincerely,

Bill Bohn
